WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR PERTH & WA'S LAND & HOUSING MARKET?

ABOUT

With the property market at its lowest point in over 5 years and the State Government facing significant fiscal challenges, just what can we expect for Perth and the WA land and housing market in the next few years and what part will the industry play in the State's economic recovery? Join our May Luncheon to hear about these issues and more from one of the experts behind the State of the Land Report, Colin Keane, Director at Research 4 in Melbourne.

Colin will outline where the WA market cycle sits compared to other States; the economics underpinning our industry and its future; as well as some of the key factors that will affect our recovery. Hear how Perth's lack of 'brand' and international profile has affected interstate and overseas interest in WA since the end of the mining boom and how our policy environment can support or sink our recovery.

Colin's detailed knowledge of the economy, housing demand and the greenfield market is used by industry, government and the financial sectors. Don't miss out on his important market insights for Perth!

Following Colin's presentation there will be a panel discussion about what needs to be done to stimulate WA's recovery.
